

Your productive global workforce

Our flexible mobile tariff

Vodafone Red for Global Enterprise

Freedom to work anywhere, home or abroad

In today's world with rapid advancements of technology and fast growing mobile usage, new opportunities have opened up for finding the best way of working. Being able to perform business tasks on smartphones has become essential in driving productivity. Giving employees the freedom to work anywhere, home or abroad, on their preferred device will increase performance and engagement.

Choosing the right mobility solution can add enormous value to your business.

* Please note there is a low daily access fee when roaming outside of Europe.

Vodafone Red for Global Enterprise allows your employees to communicate without constraints, wherever they go, ensuring they get the job done. With our "Take Your Home Tariff Abroad" feature you can roam freely across Europe, Vodafone Global Network and the Global Network zones.* This gives your business the confidence to fully embrace mobile ways of working without worrying about bill shock.

This tariff can be rolled out to your staff in multiple countries, with a consistent bill format simplifying the process of cost administration and comparison.

Need to accommodate a changing workforce?

Employees now expect more choice at work, including where they work and what device they work on. Our Red Flex solution facilitates split billing across hardware and airtime, allowing fair usage mobile policies, and employee device choice with personal payment options.

Key benefits

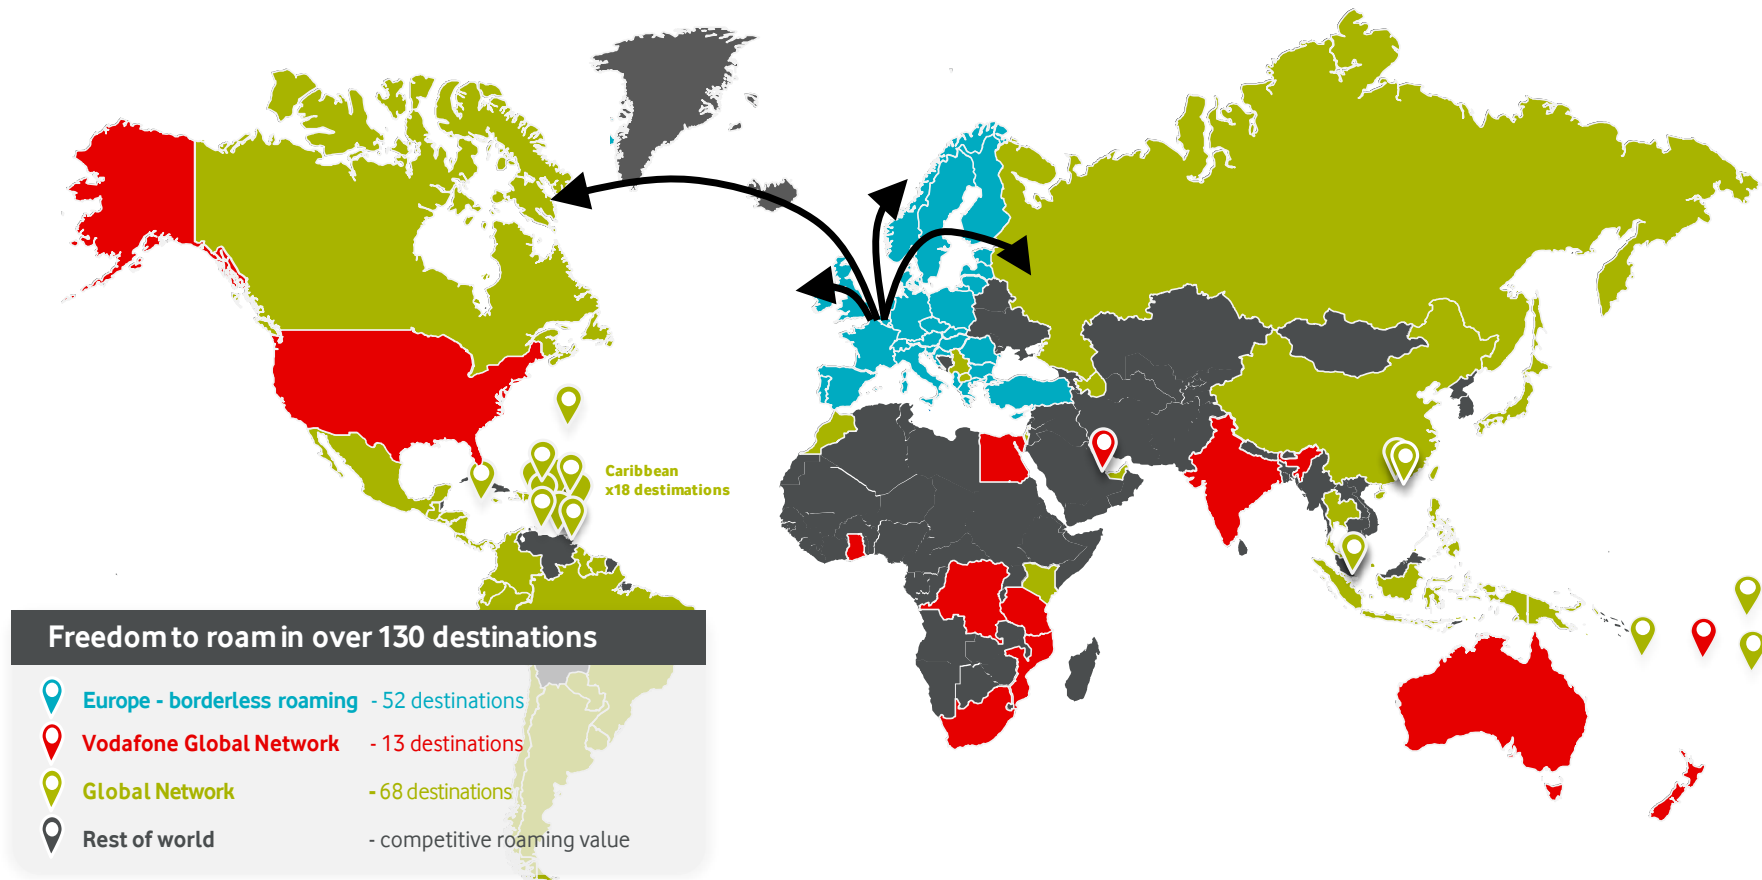

Worry-free roaming across a global 4G network

Roaming with Vodafone Red for Global Enterprise is simple, providing excellent value in over 130 destinations worldwide.

Your employees in Europe will be able to enjoy:

- Borderless roaming across 52 destinations in Europe, at no extra cost to their home domestic plan.
- The ability to take their home tariff abroad for a small daily access fee in an additional 81 destinations worldwide

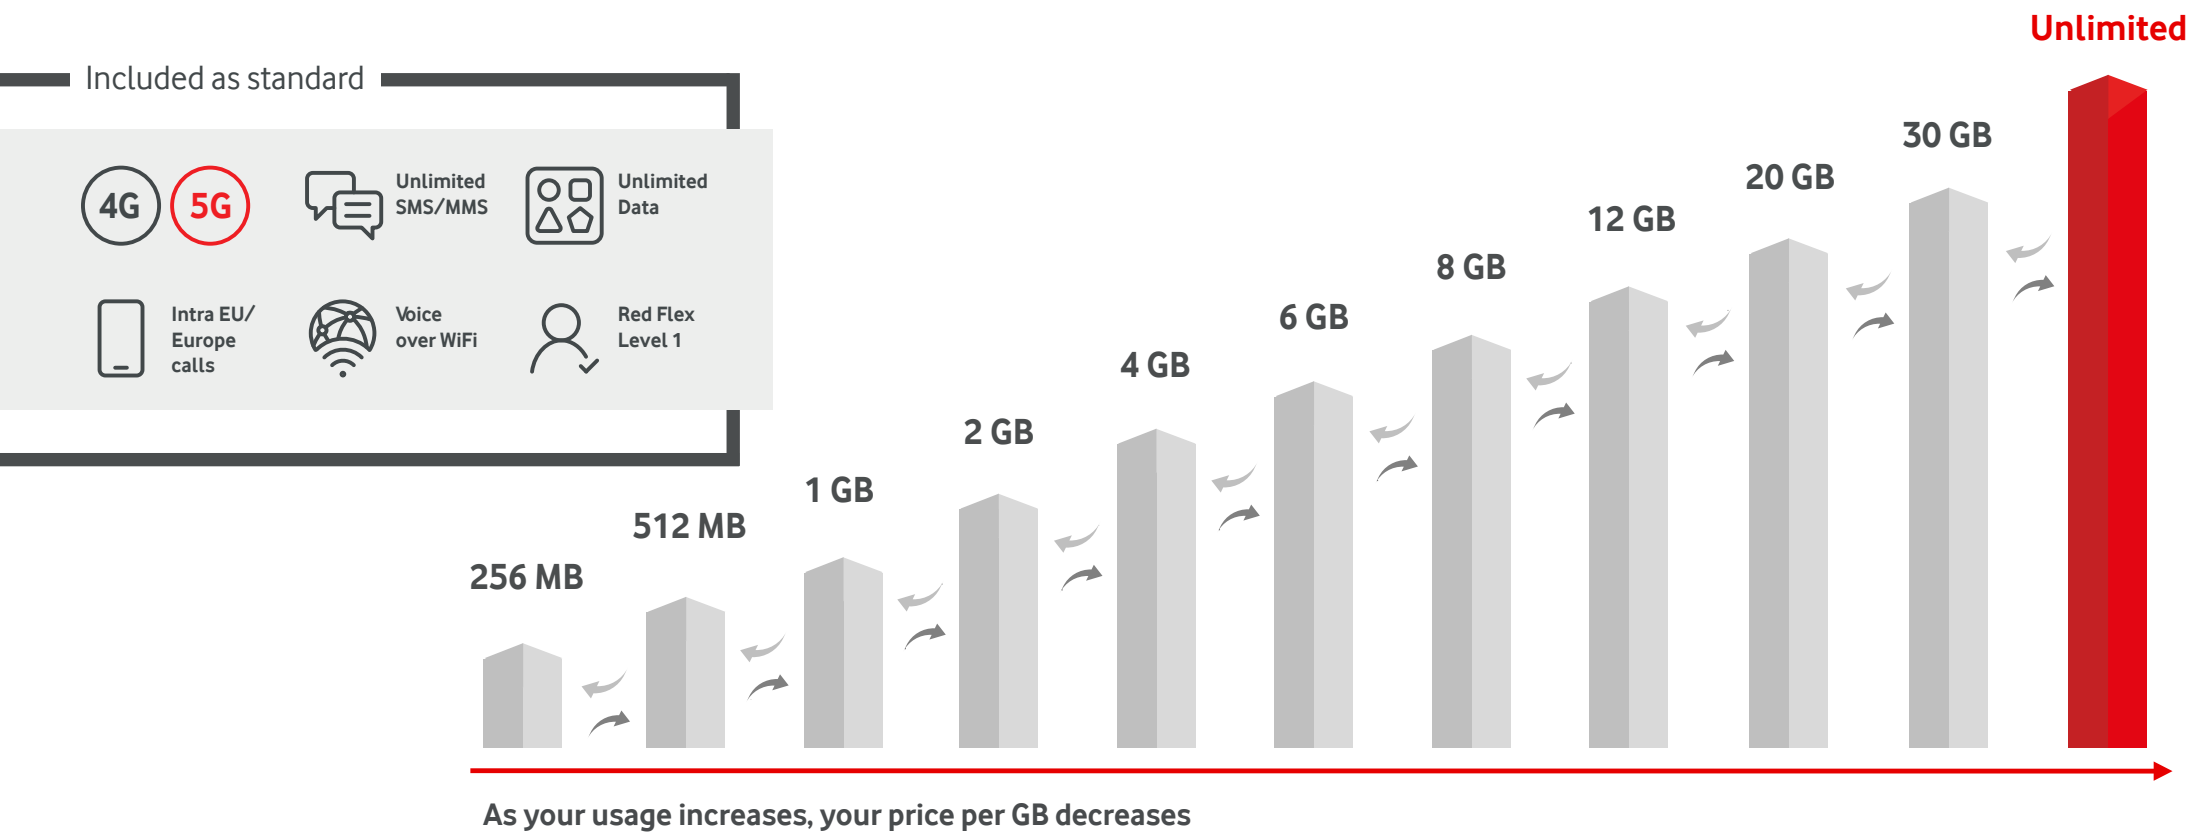

Key benefits

Always on the right data plan

Using up all of your data can be upsetting. So is paying for more than you need just to be safe. Vodafone Red for Global Enterprise is a unique self-optimising plan. Each user and device will be automatically assigned to the most cost-effective data bundle to suit their usage requirements for that individual month. Employees can be sure that they're getting the right data plan for them, from the lightest users all the way to our new unlimited category, without paying more than needed every month. And the more data you use – the lower the price per gigabyte.

Key benefits

Flexible, efficient options for each user group

Vodafone Red for Global Enterprise is efficient for all types of users:

- For voice and data users we provide unlimited voice, text and MMS.
- Voice-only users pay a simple access fee for unlimited voice, text and MMS, without having any additional data bundle charges.
- Data-only users will be charged for actual data usage for that month, and no additional device access fees will apply for them.

Red Flex provides multiple options for you to configure your mobile policy and ultimately, deliver your company strategy.
